ZOC Quotation

Dear Madam or Sir,

We are offering a license for our product ZOC for the following user tier (number of users in one legal entity and fully owned subsidiaries world wide):

License for 4000-5000 installations of ZOC Terminal: GBP 15.750,00License for 5000-6000 installations of ZOC Terminal: GBP 16.600,00*License for 6000-7000 installations of ZOC Terminal: GBP 17.500,00

The price is for an ongoing (perpetual, not time-limited) license to run the software on Windows and/or macOS, including support. Also included are updates with the same major version number (currently v8.xx) and also all future v9.xx versions. At this point in time, this will give you at least 3 years of free software updates.

This is a site license without need for individual activation codes. For the purpose of counting, an "installation" is a computer, on which one individual human being (or one human being at a time, i.e. in non-concurrent access) can run the software. This clause amends the terms of the standard license in regard to "users" (the standard terms assume that licensing is based on individual human beings).

Included is also support to the tech department of your company (but not your end users directly). Support will always be provided by a product programmer who has access to the source code and who also has the authority to decide changes/fixes.

There are no additional or yearly or ongoing fees whatsoever.

Kind Regards

Markus Schmidt
